

Apprenticeship as geriatric nurse in Germany

Are you looking for a professional perspective? We are accepting applications for a program of apprenticeship as geriatric nurse located in Southern Germany. The dual apprenticeship takes several years, happens in three phases and offers, after a successful graduation, good career prospects and ongoing employment in one of our institutions.

After a trial phase of three months which enables you insights into the tasks and duties of a geriatric nurse, you are able to continue a two-year apprenticeship as geriatric nurse helper. After that, you will be able to begin a two-year apprenticeship as geriatric nurse. Gaining professional German skills as well as a close professional and personal support in both everyday life and apprenticeship are part of the program.

3 months trial phase: Apart from getting to know the future occupational field, you will learn German and dive into the German culture.

2 year apprenticeship as geriatric nurse helper: Supporting the examined geriatric nurses in all tasks regarding the caring and nursing of older people. Assistance for older people in their daily life, keeping care records and performing housekeeping activities.

2 year apprenticeship as geriatric nurse: Nursing, caring and supporting older and care-dependant people in daily situations and assisting in their personal day-structuring. Respecting and encouraging the remaining abilities of the people cared for as well as supporting group and single activities. Contact person for the older people and their relatives as well as for the doctors and therapists.
